Introduction

The Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 (FOISA) requires Scottish public authorities to adopt and maintain a publication scheme. Authorities are under a legal obligation to:

- i. publish the classes of information that they make routinely available
- ii. tell the public how to access the information they publish and whether information is available free of charge or on payment.

In addition, the Environmental Information (Scotland) Regulations 2004 (EIRs) require authorities to publish environmental information proactively.

The duty to publish is in addition to our obligation to respond to requests for information.

The Scottish Information Commissioner has produced a model publication scheme to support public authorities in meeting their publication duties under FOISA and EIRs. We have adopted the Scottish Information Commissioner's model publication scheme (MPS) as the basis for our publication scheme. The 2021 MPS can be accessed on the Scottish Information Commissioners website.

Our guide to information

This guidance sets out:

- a. the information we publish

What we publish

Our current work priorities are listed on our website at HM Fire Service Inspectorate in Scotland \(hmfsi.scot\)

Under section 43F of the Fire (Scotland) Act 2005, the Chief Inspector must prepare a plan setting out:-

- (a) Priorities for Inquiries to be carried out; and
- (b) Information on how Inquiries will be carried out in a way which is proportionate, accountable and transparent.

The Chief Inspector must also keep the plan under review and may from time to time revise the plan. While preparing the initial plan or revising subsequent versions, the Chief Inspector will consult such persons that are considered appropriate. This plan will be published on our website at the link above.

Fire Safety Disputes

The Chief Inspector is the authority which deals with fire safety disputes in Scotland referred under Section 67 of the Fire (Scotland) Act 2005.

Information on the procedure and how to submit an application is contained in our Dispute Determination Procedural Note which is relevant to cases where the dispute is between a duty holder and the Scottish Fire and Rescue Service.

The outcome of issued determinations, including the reasoning behind the decision are made available on our website.

HMFSI actively publishes this information through reports which are written for every Inquiry/Inspection we undertake. These reports also detail who was involved in the decision making process.

Class description: Information about our strategy for, and management of, financial resources (in sufficient detail to explain how we plan to spend public money and what has actually been spent).

HMFSI's budget allocation is determined by Scottish Government. As the main function of the Inspectorate is the scrutiny of the Scottish Fire and Rescue Service, our spend is based around providing the appropriate staffing and other resources needed to facilitate the inspections set out in our Inspection Plan.
